Lightfoot

I first encountered John Simon in Philadelphia and he had a lot of ideas of his own. So he came up to Toronto a time later and we shot down each others idea's for a couple of days. Red Shea and John Stockfish were coming on with some nice licks and the songs were alright so Simon hopped a plane for New York. A week later we were getting the tracks down and everything sounded right when all of a sudden he pulls out this violin section. I couldn't believe it at first — well, I mean it sounded so fine altogether. So I just had to sit back and listen for awhile. I'd like to thank Red and John and all the other musicians who played on this record.
